To Mothers of Delicate Children

Palmira, Pa.—"My little girl had a chronic cough and was so thin you could count her ribs and she had no appetite. Nothing we gave her seemed to help her. Until one day Mrs. Neibert asked me to try Vinol, and now she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and has a more healthy color. I wish every mother who has a delicate child would try Vinol."—Mrs. ALFRED SLACK.

We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, to make delicate children healthy and strong.

The Mount Hebron drive is one of the most daring, vivid as well as picturesque mountain highways near Hendersonville. The motorists will find here every variety of turns and grades which will enable ample practice in using all speeds and contrivances attached to an automobile in regulating its motive power.

Mr. Shipman Talks.

A trip over this well-known road was made last week in company with Hon. M. L. Shipman, Commissioner of Labor and Printing of North Carolina, who was en route to a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Shipman who live within a mile or two of the Transylvania county line in the Blantyre section at Bowman's Bluff voting precinct. Mr. Shipman, who lives in Raleigh, generally makes the trip to his old home by rail to Blantyre station on the Toxaway line, which is only a few miles distance to the home of his parents.

"It has been over 20 years since I was along this road," remarked Mr. Shipman as the machine carried him rapidly up the Mount Hebron drive. At the highest point in the Gap the roadway passes a new church building and a school house. This church was built by the natives largely through the generosity of Captain M. C. Toms, of this city.

Fine Engineering Work.

Leaving this point the road retains its original name, the Willow road, and is so called by the inhabitants of this section. It was at this location that Mr. Shipman began to see wonderful improvements. The road has been changed across a deep ravine, in order to get a minimum grade and great fills have been constructed, convincing one that the county road builders have accomplished a fine piece of engineering work in linking this section of the county with Hendersonville.

"Across over there on the old road you see abandoned on that mountain, I was once driving a pair of steers from Hendersonville in a wagon loaded with provisions. My line broke, all of a sudden, and we were going down grade pretty fast. I had nothing to hold back and thought every minute I was going to be bounced off the cliff, but luck was with me. When the steers came to an incline they slackened their speed and I soon got them under control," said Mr. Shipman during his reminiscence of his boyhood days in the mountains of Henderson county.

Bowman's Bluff.

A picturesque section of the county was reached on entering the Bowman's Bluff settlement. It was here that over a quarter of a century ago a refined and cultured colony of English people settled to begin life anew in tilling the soil of this mountainous country. A noticeable distinction in the architectural styles of the houses built by this colony is observed with their quaint high gables. They fit the imaginative mind in many of the descriptions in Charles Dickens books of the typical old English dwelling houses. As Mr. Shipman stated it can be seen that these homes have been allowed to go unrepaired and the grounds are not maintained in the styles they once were as the original owners have all moved away. In this section stands many of the homes and birthplaces of a number of Hendersonville citizens, who when they reached maturity left the farms for the city.

New Farming Blood.

The beautiful farms along the fertile valley of the French Broad river are being brought up to a high standard of cultivation. Everywhere the farmers seem to be busy. Now houses are being built and new stores opened by business which would give the impression that some new farming blood has settled in this territory and has spurred the natives on in doing things.

Good Roads Doing It.

In talking to the farmers in Crab creek township they are of one opinion that farm life in that section is being brought to a higher plane by the advent of good roads. The recent bond issue of $10,000 has put the old roads in fine condition and has given them many new routes with a fair grade that considerably reduces the burden of bringing a wagon load of wood or farm products to the Hendersonville market.

Taxes are Long Past
Due and Must Be Paid

I hate to worry you but I am under oath and bond to do my duty.

Applications have been made for tax collector's titles to several hundred tracts of land in Henderson county. The owners of this land will either lose the land or else redeem it at a cost much higher than the taxes. If YOU don't pay, YOU will soon be in that fix. Why not pay now and save yourself trouble, annoyance and expense.

I mention this simply to Save you Trouble.

APPENDIX.
Advertisement New York Evening Post
April, 1915.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States entitled "South Dakota v. North Carolina," wherein the former State secured a judgment against the latter on ten bonds, par value $10,000, amounting with interest to $27,400 (which has been paid) has greatly enhanced the value of all other repudiated State bonds, because it has established the law and procedure by which they can be enforced.

The undersigned committee, in 1901 pooled all of one issue of North Carolina bonds and originated the plan by which the above successful results were brought about, and obtained a settlement from the individual stockholders, at a little less than par, of their entire holdings of these bonds.

The committee is now ready to proceed with the collection of all other repudiated bonds of every class of each State.

This committee has no connection with any other committee, and it knows that it alone is now in a position to avail itself of the benefits of the above-mentioned decision.

Those who desire to enforce the collection of their bonds will deposit the same with the North American Trust Company, 195 Broadway, New York City, and receive receipt therefor and a contract agreement under which the undersigned committee will undertake to collect the same.
